

Enthusiasm is unmistakable evidence that you're in love with your work.

Sometimes in our search for happiness we need to stop, be thankful, and just be happy.

If a child does not learn the way we teach her, let us teach her the way she learns.

Practice random acts of kindness and senseless deeds of beauty.

A school is four walls with the future inside.

We are so busy trying to give children things we didn't have, that we are failing to give them what we did have!

"If you're not having fun teaching, then you're doing something wrong."
~Jean Feldman
